Toyota makes Flange Plates mandatory for the second time.

To ensure that Toyota and Lexus customers continue to get a smooth ride for the life of their vehicle, Toyota has made the Haweke Flange Plate adaptor system mandatory to all dealers again.

Toyota recently distributed these balancing adaptors to every Toyota and Lexus dealer in the USA.

The Haweke Flange Plate adaptor system will center and torque the wheel onto a wheel balancer in the same manner it is centered and torqued onto the vehicle. This guarantees proper centering and perfect balance accuracy, which is not possible to achieve with a standard balancer cone alone.

If the wheel is not balanced using the Haweke Flange Plate adaptor system, the wheel could create an unnecessary and undesirable vibration in the vehicle.

This is the second time in two years such a Haweke adaptor system has been distributed by Toyota, this time including the new 5x150mm bolt pattern.

The initial adaptors included the 6x5.5" bolt pattern for the previous models.
